RNEST BURKUP'S CALORIC ENGINE, PATENTED at Washington, July 2, 1850, and in various parts of curope.—Mr. Burkup desires to inform his fellow citizen that his engine, having been submitted to a series of scrutinizing teets, its efficiency is fully established. The great superiority of calorie ever steam, as a motive and mechanical power, both as regards economy and percet security against explosion, is too evident to require llustration; and the practicability of its use, as a su satisate for steam, having been fully demonstrated by successful experiments, the inference is inevitable that the aloric will supersede the steam engine. Mr. Burkup is ully prepared for the prompt execution of any orders with which he may be favored for caloric engines; is able o compete with any other similar establishment, and eady to guarantee his engines as equal to any which can built. Mr. B. is now constructing one for exhibition t the World's Fair. Mr. Burkup wishes to state, that he sperfected arrangements in England to supply engines such parts of Europe where he has obtained patents. Ir. J. P. GRANT, his European partner, has also charge This office, 175 Broadway.
